REFLECTION

SITE INITIATIVE

Using the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE) to measure the student experience in learning with technology, academic advisement and course redesign.

PROGRESS TOWARD STUDENT SUCCESS

Jackson State University and in particular, Undergraduate Studies and CyberLearning, value learning about the student experience. JSU has used the NSSE to gather feedback on student engagement in campus life and as a way to evaluate the teaching and learning experience from the student's perspective. In the 2015 NSSE administration, JSU introduced two topical modules, learning with technology and academic advisement. The topical modules focused in on specific topics that we knew needed to be evaluated. This year we are joining NSSE again to see how the implementation of our site initiatives impacts and adds to the success of the student experience.

IMPACT

Based on the 2018 NSSE results, JSU will be better informed on which strategies benefit the student most and optimize the teaching and learning experience. After implementing the strategies, JSU will be able to compare results before the initiatives and after the initiatives have run a one year cycle.

INTERNAL/EXTERNAL RESOURCES

To measure student engagement, JSU will register for the National Survey of Student Engagement. Internally, JSU will form a NSSE implementation team who will assist with managing, recruiting and administering survey distribution and collection.

NEXT CRITICAL STEPS

Getting students to participate in the NSSE is a critical next step. NSSE is web-based and students are invited to participate via their JSU email.

Since participation is voluntary, we have to come up with creative incentives for students to buy-in to participating and note that their feedback are what helps JSU administration and policy makers shape the student experience.

OPPORTUNITIES/CHALLENGES

Using the NSSE is an excellent opportunity to gauge student feedback on the site initiatives. If the university decides to join the consortium, we will be able to use data from other like institutions for comparison. Of course one of the potential challenges is low student participation rate.

QUESTIONS/REQUESTS

I would like to know how many other institutions in the Frontier Set will participate in NSSE and if so if they are interested in forming a Frontier Set Consortium. NSSE registration opens June 1 and universities can access registration via this link <http://nsse.indiana.edu/> (<http://nsse.indiana.edu/>)
